

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

The Editor, Peter Faulkner, teaches in the School of English and American Studies at the University of Exeter.

Wat Tyler was one of Morris's favourite historical characters.

Norman Talbot of the University of Newcastle in New South Wales is a regular contributor; he is currently editing The Water of the Wondrous Isles for the Thoemmes Press.

Lesley Baker also lives in New South Wales, and is a regular contributor to The Journal.

Edward Hollamby, the distinguished architect, lives at Red House and wrote the authoritative account of it published in 1991.

David Pendery is currently working on a Ph.D. on Ernest Gimson for the University of Sheffield.

David and Sheila Latham, our regular bibliographers, both work at the University of Alberta, he in the English Department and she in the Library.

Stephen Coleman, the Reviews Editor, teaches the History of Ideas at the London campus of an American University.