

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Ady Mineo is an Associate Professor of English at the Institute Universitario Orientale in Naples and is currently researching on the utopian tradition.

John Purkis is a long-standing member of the Society and its former Secretary; he teaches for the Open University.

Kerima Mohideen is a school teacher in Hackney and Islington and has taught adult literacy.

Peter Faulkner is the editor of The Journal and teaches English at Exeter University.

Charles Harvey is Director of the National Westminster Centre for Management Studies at Royal Holloway and Bedford College, University of London; Jon Press is Principal Lecturer in History at Bath College of Higher Education. They are the co-authors of William Morris: Design and Enterprise in Victorian Britain.

Ann Kay taught in primary schools in south London for 25 years. John Kay is an architect and played a major role in organizing the News From Nowhere practical projects in 1990.

Stephen Coleman lectures in the History of Ideas, co-edited William Morris and News From Nowhere: A Vision For Our Time and is Reviews Editor for The Journal.